

Redefining Hope [Luke 24]

For the disciples on the road to Emmaus, when Jesus died on the cross, their hope died with him. What have you hoped in that has “died” and left you feeling as though your hope died with it?

In what ways do you live out the belief that “things are always going to be this way”?

How have you experienced suffering, and what impact has it had on hope in your life?

How has God met you in the broken places of your life and opened your eyes to his presence?

When the eyes of the disciples were opened to Jesus’ presence, they stopped walking away from Jerusalem and started running back to Jerusalem. What broken things have you been running from that God’s presence may give you the feet to run towards?
